Log homes

-  Extra-Space
-  Sustainability
-  Energy Efficiency

We are an Anglo-Estonian family run business with well established supply lines for log cabins, log homes and other timber structures. We supply and fit log buildings nationwide and now also across Europe.

We have extensive knowledge and experience of log buildings having worked with, built and lived in them for many years. We offer the widest range of high quality cabins and work passionately to bring you a one to one first class service.

Lifestyle

Our buildings provide you with all the warmth, cosiness and joy you would want to get from your own home. And on top of its insulating properties, log also naturally generates oxygen creating a healthier living environment for you and your family.

All our wood comes from sustainable forests which have established a comprehensive replanting programme and the whole process is environment-friendly.

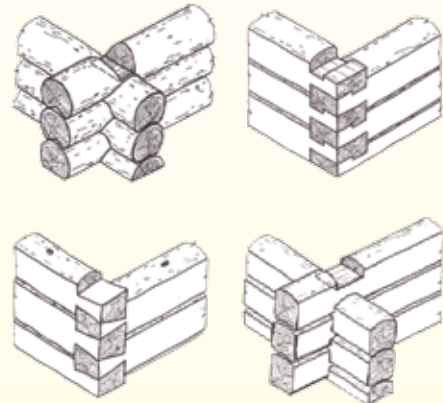

Technique

Across our range of cabins there are different log profiles available to suit your needs, yet all are strong and solid logs which come from slowly and steadily grown forests of Estonia and Finland. Log buildings are the most eco friendly way of house building as all the materials come from sustainable sources and they need minimal maintenance to last indefinitely. Finally our interlocking system means strong, rigid, draught free buildings of the highest quality.

Performance

Scandinavians have been building with log for many centuries as it is one of the few materials with natural insulating properties. It is able to keep you comfortable and warm in the extreme cold weather of the winter and cool under the heat of the summer. These natural thermal properties not only make it an ideal building material but they also make the building energy efficient.
